IS THERE A SPIRITUAL IMPACT?

Every person on earth has a spiritual dimension. The south of Sudan is predominantly Christian, at least in name.

This was one of the major motives of the Government of Sudan (GOS) in Khartoum to impose Sharia Law (A very violent form of 'justice'). Then the north literally invaded their own citizens in the south to impose the Islamist form of Sharia law, and to commit genocide against the predominantly Christian financial profit in mind, but, with integrity, using sound ethical business practices .

Amputations for Stealing

We are asking YOU to support this ministry, not only financially, but spiritually, with your prayers and intercessions for the people of southern Sudan.

They still face a very fierce and merciless enemy who would like to see nothing less than the total collapse of both the government of the south, and the failure of the social structures of southern Sudan.

They depend on the promise that, "He that is in you, is greater than he that is in the world."

When we visited the church in Kajokeji, we had a very warm and enthusiastic welcome!

south. (2,200,000 people died in that war since 1989).

This church in Kurmuk was

So YES, spiritual/religious freedom is of great value to the south. A “Comprehensive Peace Agreement” was signed in Nairobi, Kenya on January 9, 2005. This was brought about by concerted international pressure by many nations around the world. Cal Bombay was there for the signing ceremony at the invitation of the Minister for Information for southern Sudan, Dr. Samson Kwaje.

Since that time they have their own Government of Southern Sudan (GOSS), and they insist on the religious freedom guaranteed in the Comprehensive Peace Agreement.

At the beginning of every work day on each Savannah Farmers Cooperative (SFC) farm, there is a: (1) A roll-call of the workers where and each person is assigned his duties for the day. (2) A short Bible reading and prayer is conducted before they go to the fields.

The attendance at the assigning of jobs is mandatory of course, although not every employee may be a Christian (yet). No one is forced to take part in the prayer time, but all actually do attend, voluntarily.

Almost all churches were destroyed by the Islamist regime while they occupied the south. They killed pastors, destroyed their homes and quite literally razed most buildings to the ground, plundering what they could take to reuse in the north.

It is the policy of Cal Bombay Ministries to construct a church near each SFC compound, though it will not be controlled by the farm manager. (The cost will be about $7,000 USA). Once built, it will be controlled by the denomination of the pastor who is assigned, and will be financially separate from the SFC farms. The one required condition is that the pastor is a true, Bible-believing Christian who fearlessly preaches the Gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ, and whose life is an example of true Christian virtue.

Farm managers are encouraged to give evening Bible studies to both farm workers and neighbouring villagers near the farms who are willing to come. When Volunteer farmers from North America are in Sudan for demonstration and training in modern farming methods, they are encouraged to offer Bible Studies, and to answer questions about the Christian faith. The farmers will attend (and sometimes be asked to speak) at the local church, but also offer discussions later in the day on Sundays.

The management of the SFC farms will be unapologetic about the fact that the whole Savannah Farmers Cooperative is a Christian endeavor. Jesus will be acknowledged as the real provider of these farms and the equipment.

These farms will be run on business principles. They are understood, both by the donors and recipients of the benefits, as long-range feeding programs in two specific areas - physical and spiritual.

- (a) There is a saying in Sudan that, “Food is the best medicine”. These farms are being built to establish long-range food security.
- (b) Food for the soul is just as essential. For this reason, all kinds of Christian activity will be encouraged ‘around’ these farms.
- (c) Any ancillary or ‘spin-off’ industries from these farms will be put into the hands of trusted Christian management, although they will not necessarily be a part of the SFC. We want to encourage Christians to go into ‘country-building’ businesses, with not just
